Marketing Overall

🕒 Product

A focus on high-quality, beautiful products with a particular emphasis on colour & design.

🕒 Price

Montblanc pens are on the expensive side whilst remaining within the reach of their target audience: professionals. Therefore the Montblanc pen is marketed as a luxury purchase that's definitely worth investing in.

🕒 Place

Montblanc has established a huge, global distribution network that's supported by a network of repair shops and licensed retailers.

🕒 Promotion

Create a targeted, consistent marketing campaign that appeals to the heart of their target audience.

🕒 Keep Up With The Times

Things have changed a great deal since Montblanc first launched onto the scene and today the company faces the enduring challenge of appealing to a market that doesn't truly appreciate the value of a beautiful pen.

🕒 Rebranding

With the rise in technology, Montblanc understood the importance of rebranding itself to appeal to the modern market. To do this, the company shifted its focus. Rather than focusing on selling pens, it focused on selling class, sophistication and the slow elegance of times gone by.

🕒 Use Celebrity Endorsements

In January 2014, Montblanc announced that Hugh Jackman was to become their Global Ambassador. Regarded as an elegant, talented, committed and pioneering individual, it was felt that Hugh Jackman represented all the attributes of the Montblanc brand.
